

Editor's Note

George F. Handel (1685-1759) was a renowned international composer of instrumental and vocal works at the end of the Baroque era. Born in Germany, he composed works in that country as well as in Italy and England. His large-scale oratorios in English included many exuberant choruses for the people which made him especially popular in England. Handel's "Sing With Pleasure" is a very joyous and rhythmic chorus from his oratorio Saul, which he composed in London in 1738.

The source for this edition is Georg Friedrich Händels Werke, Volume 13, published by Breitkopf and Härtel in 1862. The original has been transposed down a perfect fourth. Scored originally for S.S.A. and S.A.T.B. choruses with an accompaniment of carillons, oboes, strings and continuo, this new edition of the S.S.A. section includes a keyboard reduction of the vocal and instrumental parts as the accompaniment. Modern clefs, and tempo and dynamic indications have also been added to this edition.

A very energetic presentation of the text should be heard by the listener as the singers emphasize the normally stressed syllables. The text should be sung lightly while carefully following the suggested dynamic changes.

An arrangement of this chorus for two-part voices is also available (11557).
