

Table of Contents

Preface: Diction, a Gateway to Artistic Singing 4

Part I: Introduction

Chapter 1: Phonetic Concepts	5
Diction related concepts	6
Orthography related concepts	7
Syllable related concepts	8
Vowel related concepts	8
Diphthong related concepts	10
Consonant related concepts	11
Chapter 2: The German Language	13
Germanic languages and German dialects,	14
German for the stage	15
Loan words	16
Chapter 3: Characteristic Patterns and Sounds in German	17
What makes German sound German?	17
How German words are formed — Grammatical endings	19
How German words are formed — Compound words	20
Syllabication for singers	20
Syllabication of simple words	21
Syllable separation before vowels	23
Do you have to make a glottal stop?	23
Common prefixes and suffixes	24
Chapter 4: Long and Short Vowels	27
What is vowel length?	27
How vowel length works in German	28
Why must singers understand vowel length	29
Vowel quality, vowel length and syllabic stress	30
Learning to understand vowel length and spelling	31
How spelling indicates vowel length	32
Problem areas related to vowel length	33

Part 2: The Sounds of German	34
Chapter 5: Individual Vowel Sounds	35
Bright vowels: [i: ɪ e: ε]	36
Central vowels [ɑ: a ə]	43
Dark vowels: [u: ʊ o: ɔ]	47
Mixed vowels: [y: ʏ ø: œ]	53
French nasalized vowels in German	59
Non-syllabic vowels	60
Further consideration of the schwa [ə]	61
Chapter 6: Individual diphthongs	63
Three German diphthongs	64
About German dictionaries	66
Other vowel sequences	66
Chapter 7: Individual Consonants	67
Nasal consonants [m n ŋ]	70
The lateral consonant [l]	76
The trill consonant [r r̄]	78
Stop consonants [p b t d k g]	79
Fricative consonants [f v s z ʃ ʒ ç ʝ x h]	88
An affricate [tʃ]	102
Allophones of R to avoid	103
An alternative pronunciation of ER?	104
Some thoughts about CH sounds	104
Chapter 8: German Diction in Musical Context	105
The role of stress and unstress	107
Practicing words with mixed vowels	108
Rhyming with mixed vowels	109
Adjusting consonants for singing	109
Singing doubled consonants	110
A final checklist	111
In closing	112
Part 3: Supplements
Alphabetical Key	113
German Folksongs	116
Bibliography	124
Complete IPA chart (for all human languages)	125
Index	126
Phonemes of German	128