

(We begin in Computer Central at the North Pole, just a few days before Christmas. Data is sitting at the SC 5000, Santa's brand new computer system. Bustling around him/her are Chip, PC, and Link. Other computer elves are working at tables, desks, and small computers; they are typing, writing, or reading reports and lists.

At measure 40, the scene shifts to a computer classroom. The room has several desks with computers that are facing Miss Bitsenbytes and her desk. Travis and Libby are seated in the front, with Bruno in a seat nearby. Wendy-Jo is quietly seated near the back of the room, but in full view of the audience. The children are dutifully completing their classwork, but will become noticeably more enthusiastic when they log on to Santa.claus.)
