(from Happy Feet)

Music by John Powell

Arranged by Rick Mattingly

Performance Notes

Any or all mallet-keyboard parts can be doubled.

The marimba 2 part should be played in the lowest register possible, depending on the range of the available instrument. Individual phrases (such as measures 11–12) can be taken up an octave if necessary without playing the entire part an octave higher.

The timbale part can be split between two players, with one playing just the cowbell part and the other playing the timbales. In that case, the timbale player should play straight quarter notes on the shell of one of the drums during the sections where there is a cowbell part.

The maracas part can be played on any type of shaker or cabasa.

Starting at measure 40, the drumset and timbale solos can be improvised, rather than using the notated solos, following the structure of four bars each, then two bars each, then one bar each. Measures 54 and 55 should be played as written to serve as a cue for the mallet-keyboard entrance in measure 56. If necessary, the entire solo section can be played by drumset or timbales only (rather than alternating between the two), or the solo section can be expanded to include conga and/or bongo solos.

Drumset key:
