NOTES TO THE CONDUCTOR

Fanfare to Joy is a contemporary fanfare based on the "Ode to Joy" theme from Ludwig van Beethoven's Ninth Symphony. The most important thing to remember in this piece is to not over-blow the loud sections—always maintain a good sound throughout.

The teaching of the rhythm in the upper woodwinds on beat 1 of measure 1, etc., may be facilitated by initially instructing the students to ignore the second 16th note and play the pattern as just an eighth note triplet. Once the "feel" is internalized, add back the 16th note.

Beginning in measure 7, there should be a general crescendo throughout the piece. The crescendo in the last four bars should not increase too quickly or your students will not have "anywhere to go" dynamic-wise in the second to the last bar.

I hope you and your ensemble find Fanfare to Joy to be an exciting and worthwhile musical experience.
