NOTES TO THE CONDUCTOR

This chart was written for the Colina Middle School Jazz Band, Thousand Oaks, CA, directed by Mike Gangemi. It's a funky chart that should be a lot of fun for young players. It has an infectious groove and plenty of bluesy figures for the horns to dig in on.

The bass player will need to set up the groove right at the beginning—play that written bass lick with a strong sense of time and groove, which will set up the band so that they come in with confidence.

Subdividing is important for the horns when they play those off beats in measure 9—feel the downbeats. Those downbeats will keep everybody together. The trombones and tenor saxes should play the melody at measure 17 with a forward moving sense of time—don't lay back, and keep that sassy attitude going throughout this entire chart. When the trumpets and altos enter at 25, listen closely for good intonation and make sure all the players crescendo at the same rate. The entire band should really sit on the three quarter notes in measures 16 and 24, and whenever that figure occurs. Those three quarter notes right on the beat provide contrast for the off beats in this chart, like in measure 9.

For the solo section, the chords of this tune are pretty easy to improvise on, but make sure the soloists take a look at measures 72, 73, 80 and 81, where they change up a bit—don't fake it through those bars!

The development section starts after the solos, and make sure to crescendo the eighth notes in measures 85–87, and put a nice aggressive fall at the end of the lick. When the trombones play the sustained note in measure 93, direct them to play together as a section, which means scoop up to the note at the same rate, crescendo at the same rate, and listen closely to the section intonation. Sometimes the pitch will get a bit weird as young players get louder, so caution the players for that as well.

There is a short drums/percussion soli at measure 101 which should be played with strength and authority. The band is propelling toward the end of the chart, so if the melody at measure 105 is a little louder than it was the first time, well that might be a good thing, right? But whatever you do, save some juice for the last four bars which are the climax of the chart. Go for it and really sell it to the audience!

I hope you have fun playing Hit the Bricks!

Gordon
Goodwin

Gordon Goodwin started composing at the age of three. No masterpieces at that time, but he kept at it and wrote his first big band chart at age 13. It was good enough to convince him that he could possibly keep doing this. Flash cut 20 years later and Gordon is working in Hollywood, writing for television and film, playing sessions on keyboards and woodwinds, and working with artists like Ray Charles, Christina Aguilera, Johnny Mathis, Toni Braxton, John Williams, Natalie Cole, David Foster, Sarah Vaughan, Mel Torme, Brian McKnight, and Quincy Jones, to name a few. Goodwin's cinematic scoring and orchestration craft can be heard on such films as The Sorcerer's Apprentice, Escape to Witch Mountain, Get Smart, Glory Road, National Treasure, The Incredibles, Remember the Titans, Armageddon, The Majestic, Con Air, Gone In 60 Seconds, Enemy of the State, Star Trek Nemesis, and even the classic cult film Attack of the Killer Tomatoes.

In 2000, Goodwin formed The Big Phat Band, an eighteen piece jazz ensemble, which quickly gained a reputation as one of the most exciting large jazz ensembles on the planet. To date, the BPB has released five records, Swingin' For The Fences (2000), XXL (2003), The Phat Pack (2006), Act Your Age (2008), and That's How We Roll (2011). The albums have featured state-of-the-art guest artists like Arturo Sandoval, Eddie Daniels, Take 6, Brian McKnight, Johnny Mathis, Michael Brecker, Dianne Reeves, David Sanborn, Chick Corea, Dave Grusin, Lee Ritenour, Patti Austin, Art Tatum, Dave Koz, Gerald Albright, and Marcus Miller.

Goodwin's work has garnered him three Emmy Awards and eleven Grammy® nominations, with a win for his work on the Pixar film The Incredibles. His charts are played all over the world, and along with his method books and CDs, have been a robust source of inspiration and learning for thousands of young musicians.
