NOTES TO THE CONDUCTOR

Thank you for playing this new chart! This music is built around one of my favorite Latin grooves. I would recommend that the rhythm section listen to the music of people like Tito Puente and Poncho Sanchez in order to hear the authentic interpretation of the notated figures in this chart.

The pianist starts things off with a standard montuno, including the left hand bass note falling on beat 4 of the first measure of the pattern. This can take some practice, since it can feel unusual at first to not play anything on the downbeat of the second measure. Practice this pattern until you can lay it down with confidence. This starts off the entire chart and sets up the whole vibe, so the pianist must nail this!

The saxophones state the melody at m. 20. We are in unison here, so listen to one another and play as one unified voice. The feel should be rhythmically tight, but still relaxed and jazzy—find that fine line! The dynamic at m. 20 is only mf , so don't go charging in too aggressively. Leave some room to hit that crescendo in m. 33.

The sax melody recurs with a trombone countermelody at m. 42. The dynamic is still only mf until m. 55, when we explode to f !

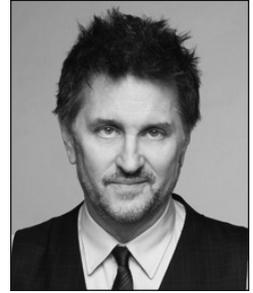

The bridge at m. 58 has some jazz harmonies that add a little sophistication to the piece. The brass should listen to the voicings and go for balance and good intonation. We crescendo to f by m. 73, and we should stay there through m. 84.

The solo section at m. 85 can come down in volume to enable your soloist to play a solo that builds over time. When playing the background figures, remember that the soloist is the most important element, so play at a dynamic that allows the soloist to shine. I have provided a sample solo for various instruments.

After the solo section, the bridge of the song returns, this time with a saxophone countermelody. I find it interesting that while the brass section figure was prominent when it appeared the first time around (m. 58), this time, the listener has heard it before and shifts their attention to the saxophones. Accordingly, I would have the saxes dig in and play m. 103 with attitude and style.

The final statement of the theme, sometimes called the "shout chorus," occurs at m. 124. The band should play full out here, as this is when the audience gets to hear the theme for the final time and celebrate it. Dig in and sell it! Now is not the time for timidity! After a few tags, we all come together for a nice big sting at m. 145 with a big crescendo to the last two notes. Spank those notes with gusto and show the audience what it means to celebrate The Soul of the Band!

Gordon
Goodwin

Gordon Goodwin started composing at the age of three. No masterpieces at that time, but he kept at it and wrote his first big band chart at age 13. It was good enough to convince him that he could possibly keep doing this. Flash cut 20 years later and Gordon is working in Hollywood, writing for television and film, playing sessions on keyboards and woodwinds, and working with artists like Ray Charles, Christina Aguilera, Johnny Mathis, Toni Braxton, John Williams, Natalie Cole, David Foster, Sarah Vaughan, Mel Tormé, Brian McKnight, and Quincy Jones, to name a few. Goodwin's cinematic scoring and orchestration craft can be heard on such films as The Sorcerer's Apprentice, Escape to Witch Mountain, Get Smart, Glory Road, National Treasure, The Incredibles, Remember the Titans, Armageddon, The Majestic, Con Air, Gone In 60 Seconds, Enemy of the State, Star Trek Nemesis, and even the classic cult film Attack of the Killer Tomatoes.

In 2000, Goodwin formed The Big Phat Band, an eighteen piece jazz ensemble, which quickly gained a reputation as one of the most exciting large jazz ensembles on the planet. To date, the BPB has released five records, Swingin' For The Fences (2000), XXL (2003), The Phat Pack (2006), Act Your Age (2008), and That's How We Roll (2011). The albums have featured state-of-the-art guest artists like Arturo Sandoval, Eddie Daniels, Take 6, Brian McKnight, Johnny Mathis, Michael Brecker, Dianne Reeves, David Sanborn, Chick Corea, Dave Grusin, Lee Ritenour, Patti Austin, Art Tatum, Dave Koz, Gerald Albright, and Marcus Miller.

Goodwin's work has garnered him three Emmy Awards and eleven Grammy® nominations, with three Grammy wins for his work on the Pixar film The Incredibles (2006) and his arrangements of "Rhapsody in Blue" (2012) and "On Green Dolphin Street" (2014). His charts are played all over the world, and along with his method books and CDs, have been a robust source of inspiration and learning for thousands of young musicians.
