NOTES TO THE CONDUCTOR

This chart is a medium gospel rock; therefore, all eighth notes should be played evenly, not swung. Careful attention should be paid to all articulations and dynamics. Crescendos, such as in the saxophone section at measures 25–26, should also be carefully observed. The saxes in the introduction establish a recurring harmonic pattern. Since Neal Hefti composed this piece for the legendary trumpeter Harry James, I thought it would be appropriate to state the melody first with a solo trumpet.

Ad-lib solos are written out for the 1st Alto Sax and 1st Tenor Sax. Players should be encouraged to improvise their own solos once they are familiar with the harmonic chord progression. I suggest a starting point be a simple embellishment of the written solo.

The piano voicings are meant solely as a guide, and the piano player should be encouraged to experiment and develop his or her own comping rhythms, especially behind the ad-lib solos. "Sunday Morning" is a fun chart with down-home feel. I hope you and your band enjoy it.
