Tyrannosaurus

L.H. Position

R.H. Position

Grandioso

f Most fear-some di - no - saur of all Was big and mean and liked to fight.

Jaws four-foot long and ver - y strong Gave him an e-nor-mous bite!

p Long, six-inch teeth were ve - ry sharp, Could chew the big - gest bones with ease.

f Ty - ran - no - sau - rus Rex was he, Stood tall as man - y - trees.

Tyrannosaurus

Tyrannosaurus (tie-ran-o-SAWR-us), "king of the tyrant dinosaurs," ruled the ancient lands that are now Montana and Wyoming before his extinction. He was the last and largest of the meat-eating dinosaurs. When standing on two powerful hind legs, he stood about 18 feet tall. His huge head had very strong jaws containing dozens of curved, saw-like teeth. At a typical weight of 6 tons, he was much too heavy to run swiftly, so he feasted on other plant-eating dinosaurs that were easy to catch.