

Combinations of Reflections

Each reflection combines with the original sound wave, resulting in a completely new sound wave. The summing and canceling process that occurs when sound waves combine becomes very complex when all the possible reflections are considered.

