

Another Mission: Secret

Ryan Meeboer

Another Mission: Secret is a sequel to the Mission: Secret. Like its predecessor, this chart uses all the qualities of a classic spy tune: 12-bar blues form, catchy bass riff, simple melody and suspenseful dynamics.

After a short, attention grabbing introduction, the piece moves into the bass line, followed by the melody played in the 1st trumpet. The bass line includes an important lick, like the one in measure 18, often throughout the piece. This lick plays an important role by filling in the time during the long notes in the melody, so players should not be afraid to bring it out a little each time it is performed.

The middle contrasting section beginning at measure 63 should be played with exaggerated dynamic contrast in the long tones to help increase the suspenseful feeling.
