About the Music

Inspired by the sounds, styles and moods of Broadway, this overture style work was funded by the family of drummer Kyle Woodring, who played with Survivor, Dennis DeYoung, John Mellencamp, and in the Chicago run of Jersey Boys among many other gigs. The music serves as a backstage pass to his career and takes the listener through a series of styles and melodies, much like one would hear in an overture on Broadway. Kyle passed away much too young, but left a legacy of music behind for people to remember him.

Kyle released an instrumental CD called A Child's Gift. The title track is based on a series of low chord progressions and a pizzicato string ostinato. I decided to use those same chords in the low brass and base my own woodwind ostinato figure off of Kyle's note sequence (C-G-F-E). This builds into the first full ensemble statement that launches the listener into the next section of the music. As the various soloists begin to play at measure 42, I hear the melodies hinting at the songs one would hear later in the Broadway show. This style becomes very prevalent at measure 48. After this brief glimpse, the music moves into a more solemn mood with a melody derived from the previous material. Again, the style is pure Broadway, so soloists should feel free to take certain liberties.

The fourth section of the piece (measure 103) is loosely based on the energy and style of West Side Story, though it quickly departs from that as the music develops. The driving jazz rhythms and drum set playing showcase many of the styles Kyle played. Ironically, Kyle's family always talked about how he toured all the time, played shows and recorded jingles, but his true heart was in jazz. I did not know that until after I had written the jazz section of this piece.

As the jazz section concludes, fragments of the opening material return and the piece comes to a powerful conclusion. Again, in my mind, this was "just the beginning of the show." This music allowed me to revisit my childhood, when I would visit my grandparents in New York and they would always take me to a show. It made a huge impact on me and I am glad I now have the chance to share that with others.

My deepest thanks go to the Woodring family for not only making this piece possible, but for sharing so many wonderful stories and being such amazing supporters of the arts. While Kyle may no longer be with us, his legacy is stronger than ever. Also thanks to Beth Bousfield and the Mason High School Symphonic Band for commissioning and premiering the piece. Kyle was a graduate of Mason High School and the premiere included many family and friends.
