About the Music

Masters of the Symphony is a collection of three excerpts from famous 19th century symphonic works by Dvořák, Beethoven, and Saint-Saëns.

1. Dvořák's Symphony No. 9 "From the New World" was composed in 1893 during his residency in the United States. It is Dvořák's most famous symphony and one of the most performed symphonic works in the repertoire. The excerpt in Masters of the Symphony is from the beginning of the 4th movement in which Dvořák depicts a steam locomotive starting up and barreling through the American countryside.
2. Beethoven's 7th Symphony was first performed in 1813 as a charity concert for soldiers injured during the Napoleonic Wars. Masters of the Symphony quotes the haunting second movement theme which was so well received at the premiere that it was immediately encored and became one of Beethoven's most loved melodies.
3. Saint-Saëns' 3rd Symphony was completed in 1886 and is nicknamed the "Organ" Symphony because of the inclusion of a full pipe organ during the finale. Masters of the Symphony uses the famous and majestic main theme of the last movement.

Directors can use Masters of the Symphony as a teaching tool to introduce students to these great composers and their music. I highly recommend that students listen to sections of the original orchestral works to gain a better understanding of the musical intentions of the composers.

Masters of the Symphony is lovingly dedicated to Jill McAbee Brooks, Director of Bands at Weddington High School. Ms. Brooks has been my partner in music education for many years, and serves as a positive role model for female band directors everywhere. For me, Jill is a loving, supportive, and eternal friend who I am grateful to have in my life.
