The Composer

Composer and arranger Rob Vuono, Jr. is currently staff arranger for the U.S. Navy Band in Washington, D.C. Rob received his formal training at both the Manhattan School of Music and Mannes College of Music, studying classical composition and orchestration with Dr. Leo Edwards, Giampaolo Bracali, and David Loeb. Additionally, Rob studied arranging with Johnny Carisi, Jo Boyer, and Gil Evans. Rob has freelanced as a writer and performer in the New York area, and has been active as a jazz studies instructor for the International Art of Jazz program and director of the Stony Brook Jazz Ensemble at SUNY, Stony Brook, New York.

In 1986, Rob was hired as a writer and performer for the U.S. Navy Band, eventually securing the job of chief arranger for the U.S. Naval Academy Band in 1994. Rob writes for a wide variety of ensembles (jazz ensemble, wind ensemble, orchestra, choral groups, and chamber groups) and performers (the rock group Phish, the swing band Big Time Operator, and The Bluebonnet Brass). An accomplished trumpet and piano instrumentalist, Rob is currently active as a writer, performer, and bandleader, releasing recordings of arrangements by his own big band.

About the Music

At the height of the swing era (late 30s to mid 40s), every band could boast a library containing a diverse array of arrangements, each to fulfill a different purpose: arrangements of the top pop songs of the day, oftentimes featuring a vocalist; ballads, perfect for a slow dance; novelty tunes, adding a touch of humor to any show; feature showcases that would put the spotlight on a particular instrumentalist, oftentimes the leader. Another staple of the times was the no-holds-barred, gloves-off, adrenaline-pumping, up-tempo swinger affectionately referred to as the flag-waver. On occasion, it featured a particular section of the band, and many times this honor fell to the trumpet section. Bugle 'N' Boogie is an update of the flag-wavers of years past, with the feature honors going full tilt to the trumpets.

The overall form is AABA. Each A section contains a 12-bar blues pattern, while the B section contains an 8-bar bridge. Trumpets assert themselves right away without the use of an intro. Saxes and trombones are on hand to offer up commentary in response to each statement from the trumpets. The trumpet lines are derived from bits and pieces of bugle calls, with a few idiomatic lines added for good measure (note the motive at bar 15, followed by the rapid false-fingering in bar 16).

Trumpets ease into the first bridge at bar 25, first with a smooth 4-bar phrase, then with a 2-bar phrase that ends in a stop-time bugle call—a little dissonance is thrown in for an added dose of “attitude.” Another 12-bar chorus featuring the trumpet section finishes off the first part of the composition.

Bar 45 may sound like a transition, but in actuality it is the beginning of a 12-bar blues chorus (a kick off, if you will). Trumpets have the lead line, trombones descend along the bass line, and saxes have accented offbeat trills. Make sure the volume drops from a fortissimo to a pianissimo in bars 45–47, followed by two beats of total silence. The brass entrance (at a fortissimo) on the upbeat of 3 in measure 48 will be like a bolt of lightening. Trumpet 2 has a brief ad lib. solo immediately following the brass section fall-off in bar 49. The rest of the trumpets join in a bar before 57. Trumpet 2 can play along or take a rest to bar 60, upbeat of 3. Additionally, lead trumpet may play bars 56–58 up one octave, with an optional rest from bar 59–60, upbeat of 3.

The saxes and trombones are featured on the bridge in bars 69–76. The bridge then leads directly into a 4-bar transition in bars 77–80 that features trumpets and moves the chart into the key of E $\flat$ .

The section at bar 81 is a call-and-response between saxes and trumpets—saxes on smooth, harmonized 2-bar phrases followed by trumpets on various bugle calls. The entire ensemble sets up the next 12-bar section. Make sure the entire band phrases together in bars 91 and 92, including the rhythm section.

Although trumpets are prominently featured in the next 12-bar section (bars 93–104), saxes and trombones offer solid support that occasionally moves to the forefront. Bars 104 and 105 feature the same unilateral phrasing as in bars 91 and 92. An exciting 8-bar transition follows (bars 106–113), in which the trumpets play various bugle calls over a background that keeps moving up in half-step increments. Driving the line further upward, saxes take over in bar 111, and brass drives the idea all the way home in bar 113. Contrary motion between outer voices has a dramatic effect in moving to the next section, which begins at bar 113.

A nice interplay among all sections of the band highlights this last 12-bar segment. Lead trumpet may take beats 2, 3, and 4 of measures 114, 118, and 122 up one octave, as well as bar 24 to beat 3 of bar 29. The coda commences at bar 125 with an ever-rising trumpet passage. The upward movement is emphasized by the tutti chromatic line in bar 129, leading to an exciting finish.

Limited range demands will ensure success from most ensembles. All rhythm section parts are fully notated to assist players with less experience. Additionally, a written trumpet solo is provided with chord changes.
