About the Music

The Huron Carol is Canada's oldest Christmas song. The Hurons were a native American tribe of the Iroquoian family located in the Northeastern corner of the United States. The tune used in this carol is also known by its lyrics 'Twas in the Moon of Wintertime, written in 1643 and based on a traditional French folk tune.

This arrangement offers the melody to all instruments accompanied by a strong, rhythmic figure. The melody appears in the upper strings first and then in the cello/bass sections. Some melodic threads connect the statement of the tune between the different voices.

The percussion part is optional but helps give an authentic sound to the piece. This selection will offer a bit of contrast in your holiday concert or in a multicultural program.
