About the Music

Since it is easier to cut down trees when the sap is not running, loggers in Newfoundland work winters “cutting down the pine”. Many songs and lumberjack traditions have been passed down over the years. Among them is The Lumber Camp Song, also known as The Shanty Boy’s Song.

Come all you jolly fellows and listen to my song;
It’s all about the shanty boys and won’t delay you long.
The jolliest bunch of fellows that ever you could find,
And how we spend our winter months is cutting down the pine.

In this arrangement students will be submerged in hooked bowing which is characteristic of the flowing 6/8 meter. The tune is in the somewhat exotic Dorian mode (e natural minor with a raised 6th scale degree: C \sharp). The unexpected C \sharp is given rhythmic emphasis when it appears, such as in the violin part in measure 15. Since the tunes of Newfoundland were highly influenced by the Irish and Scottish music traditions, students will find motifs from the Irish fiddle tune Swallowtail Jig here and there.
