The Arranger

Matt Moreno is a recent graduate of Texas State University in San Marcos, Texas, where he received his Bachelors Degree in Music Education with an emphasis in instrumental studies. He has performed with various Texas orchestras, jazz and salsa groups on double bass, and often performs on cello with string quartets. As an active teacher, composer, arranger and performer, he resides in North Dallas where he is currently a head middle school orchestra director in Plano ISD.

About the Music

Wagner has given us unforgettable pieces of literature from his opera, Lohengrin; most notably the Wedding March. For over half a century, Elsa's Procession to the Cathedral has established itself as a standard in band literature. I have always enjoyed listening to the wind ensemble arrangement and am thrilled to introduce these beautiful melodies to the string orchestra.

This piece is intended to be played in a legato style, and should not exceed a quarter note marking of 70 beats per minute. However, the conductor may use some fluctuation in tempo to keep the sense of development in the music continuous while it slowly intensifies its way to the end of the piece, signifying Elsa's arrival. This arrangement begins simply and serenely with a solo string quartet for the first eight measures, and later offers an opportunity to feature your first chair violinist and cellist. The 2nd violins and violas at measure 33 begin the voicings otherwise sung by the opera chorus that can certainly be brought out alongside the 1st violin melody. Overall, this piece will demonstrate the orchestra's ability to perform.
